Illegal sentenced to prison for fatal wreck

January 06, 2009

RALEIGH - A local painter found out this afternoon that he will spend the next 13 to 16 years in prison for a fatal wreck that killed three people in May after his van slammed into their car while he was driving drunk and heading the wrong way on Raleigh's Beltline.

Francisco Javier Martinez, 30, an illegal immigrant who came to the country five years ago, received the prison sentence this afternoon after he pleaded guilty to three counts of second-degree murder and two counts of felony injury.

Martinez had been drinking with friends in the hours before the 4:30 a.m. crash on May 25, his attorney Charles Christopher said.

He was headed home to his wife and three children when he got on the Beltline near Rock Quarry Road going the wrong way. A police officer spotted him and tried to stop him but, before that happened, Martinez's van slammed into a Lexus. Martinez had a blood alcohol content of 0.17, more than twice the legal limit to drive of 0.08.

Six hours before the wreck, Martinez was pulled over by a Raleigh police officer and found that his license had just expired a few days earlier. The officer did not detect any alcohol on Martinez at that time and released him, said Wake assistant district attorney Jeff Cruden.

The wreck took the lives of two brothers Guillermo Jimenez, 26, and Dagoberto Jimenez, 21, as well as the life of Santiago Pascual Tellez, 14, of Knightdale. Two other passengers in the Lexus were hurt but recovered from their injuries.

Guillermo Jimenez, who was driving the Lexus, had a blood alcohol content of 0.05 while Santiago, the 14-year-old, had enough alcohol in his system to register a 0.14, Cruden said.

Santiago's family said they didn't know he had been drinking that night. They remembered him as a teenager who was popular at Durant Middle School. Santiago came to the United States from Mexico with his family when he was 4 and dreamed of one day being a police officer.

The deaths of the Jimenez brothers was especially hard on their families, marking the second time a loved one was killed in a traffic accident. In 2005, then 14-year-old Jose Jimenez, brother of the two men, was killed when the family's car broke down on Interstate 540 and another vehicle slammed into them.

HOOKERTON - Two males from Greene County have been arrested on rape, kidnapping and felonious restraint charges.

On Dec. 30, the Greene County Sheriff's Department arrested a pair of cousins on kidnapping and statutory rape charges.

Hugo A. Marquez, 16, of 64 Cardinal Drive, Hookerton, was charged with first degree statutory rape and kidnapping of a 12-year-old Greene County girl.

Johnny Marquez, 20, of 75 Margaret Drive, Snow Hill, was charged with felonious restraint.

"The victim, along with a 15-year-old girl from another residence, willfully got into a car with Hugo and Johnny Marquez," Greene County Sheriff Lemmie Smith said. "Based on our investigation, the girls snuck away from their homes."

According to Detective Violet Mills, the girls were taken to a public park by the cousins.

Smith says that although the girls were not held against their will, their age dictates the charges.

"Neither Hugo or Johnny Marquez got permission from these girls' parents to transport them," Smith said. "That's why they were charged with felonious restraint and kidnapping."

According to Mills, the parents of the 15-year-old contacted the Sheriff's Office.

"When the parents discovered their daughter had snuck out of the house, they called us," Mills said. "A deputy from our department went to the residence of the 15-year-old and while he was there, the suspects returned with the girls."

Johnny Marquez was placed in the Greene County Jail under a $25,000 bond. Hugo Marquez was placed in the Greene County Jail under a $30,000 bond.

Police are investigating the shooting death of a man early yesterday at an apartment complex in southeastern Winston-Salem.

Shortly before 4 a.m., police responded to a call at the complex at 803 Utah Drive, off Cole Road. Upon arriving, they found that three men had been shot outside the complex including Jose Luis Guzman, 24. Guzman was taken to Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center, where he died as a result of his injuries, Winston-Salem police officials said.

The killing was the city's first homicide of 2009.

Valentin Francisco Organis, 22, and Antonio Adolfo Hernandez, 33, were also shot. They were treated for injuries not considered life-threatening and released from Baptist Medical Center. Police said that Organis lives at the apartment complex but addresses for the other two men had not been determined.

Detectives spent much of yesterday at the apartments trying to figure out exactly what happened. Police Capt. David Clayton said that according to interviews officers had with residents, they believe that a fight started inside an apartment and continued outside in the parking lot, where the shootings occurred.

However, police still didn't know yesterday afternoon what weapon was used, or even how many times Guzman was shot, he said.

An autopsy scheduled for today is expected to give officers more information, Clayton said.

He also said that it had been difficult to get information from residents about what had happened. "We're still working on it," Clayton said.

Anyone with information about the case is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 727-2800 or 728-3904 for Spanish speakers.

Traffic stops net drugs in two counties

Jan. 19, 2009

Vehicle stops in two Western North Carolina counties resulted in drug charges against five people and the seizure of cocaine and methamphetamines, investigators said Monday.

Authorities in Buncombe County charged a Weaverville man with drug trafficking after officers reported finding 1 kilogram of cocaine in his car.

Jamie Leon Figueroa, 26, of Earnhardt Court, was jailed in lieu of $30,000 bond.

He had been stopped Monday for a traffic violation, said Lt. Ross Dillingham of the Buncombe County Sheriff's Office. The officer found the cocaine and called in narcotics detectives.

Authorities in North Carolina in 2007 seized 385.5 kilograms of cocaine and 14 kilograms of methamphetamine, according to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration in Atlanta. Statistics for 2008 were not available.

The DEA says North Carolina's interstate networks and its growing population have caused an increase in drug trafficking in recent years.

The federal agency considers the state a destination for street-level cocaine as well as a staging and shipment location for sending the drug to other states in the Northeast.

Jan. 22, 2009

In an unrelated arrest, a drug dog at a Thursday traffic checkpoint alerted officers in Jackson County to a car where they found 22.7 grams of methamphetamine.

Officers arrested the driver and passengers on charges of possession with intent to sell and deliver methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia and felony conspiracy.

Travis McKinley Trull, 28, of Cashiers, and Hector Mendoza, 25, of Fletcher, were in jail Monday with bail set at $10,000 each.

Misty Dawn Ramirez, 31, also of Fletcher, and Kendra Gibson Creson, 36, of Canton, were released on bond.
