Judge Orders Subway Restaurant To Pay $27,000 For I-9 Violations

<http://www.ilw.com/articles/2011,0228-fay.shtm>

FAYETTEVILLE- The Department of Justice, Office of the Chief Administrative Hearing Officer (OCAHO) has published a precedent decision regarding an employer's liability for Form I-9 violations and the proper weight of various factors used to assess the amount of civil fines. The case, United States of America v. Snack Attack Deli, Inc. d/b/a Subway Restaurant #3718, tells the familiar story of a small restaurant in North Carolina that had neglected its employment eligibility verification responsibilities for several years and failed to complete I-9s for its employees. Snack Attack is a Subway franchise restaurant located in Fayetteville, North Carolina

Faced with a potentially crippling fine of $111,078 for 108 distinct I-9 violations, the restaurant requested a hearing with OCAHO to dispute both its liability and the assessed fines. In ruling on the government's motion for summary judgment, the Administrative Law Judge, Ellen Thomas, agreed with Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) that the violations were serious and that the employer lacked good faith (as defined in more detail below). On balance though, the Judge considered the company's small size and the general state of the economy to be more important considerations that weighed in favor of a reduced penalty. While the $27,000 fine is still substantial for this lone Subway restaurant, there are several important lessons to be learned for all employers with I-9 skeletons in the closet.

Jury Convicts Benson Man In 2008 Murder

<http://www.wtsbradio.com/pages/localnews.html>

JOHNSON COUNTY- Following an 11 day trial, a 12 member Johnston County jury found Luis Reyes Hernandez of Benson guilty of first degree murder and robbery with a dangerous weapon on Monday. Jurors deliberated for about 70 minutes before returning the unanimous verdict. Hernandez was the third defendant to be convicted in the May 28, 2008 murder of Bobby Glenn McLamb from the Meadow community. After the guilty verdicts, Hernandez was sentenced to life in prison for the murder conviction, plus an additional 64 to 86 months for robbery.

In January, Nancy Hernandez and Amanda Jean Russell entered guilty pleas to second-degree murder and robbery with a dangerous weapon. Hernandez was also convicted of assault on a government official. Sentencing for both women was delayed, pending their cooperation and testimony in Hernandez trial. However, based upon their plea, both women are likely to serve a minimum of 20 to 25-1/2 years in prison.

Prosecutors said the three defendants bludgeoned Mr. McLamb to death with a baseball bat, after the two women lured him out of bed. The three then reportedly robbed McLamb's home of beer, money and guns. A friend found McLamb's body in the kitchen of his home after he failed to show up for work.

45 Gang Suspects Arrested In Local ICE Operation

<http://www.wsocvtv.com/news/27055028/detail.html>

CHARLOTTE, N.C. -- A national law enforcement operation led to the arrests of 45 suspected gang members and affiliates in and around Charlotte.

The arrests were part of Project Southern Tempest, which was led by U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) Homeland Security Investigations, with assistance from the North Carolina Alcohol Law Enforcement, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department, Gastonia Police Department and Gaston County Police Department.

"Project Southern Tempest is the largest ever ICE-led gang enforcement operation targeting gangs with ties to drug trafficking organizations," said ICE Director John Morton. "Through gang enforcement operations like Project Southern Tempest and Project Big Freeze last year, ICE will continue to disrupt and dismantle these transnational gangs and rid our streets not only of drug dealers, but the violence associated with the drug trade."

Of the 45 arrested in the Charlotte area, 16 were living in Charlotte and 29 were living in Gastonia. The gang affiliations included the Asian Boys Crips, Bloods, Collateral, CRIPS, Surenos and Trap Boys, investigators said.

On Tuesday, ICE Homeland Security Investigations announced the nationwide arrests of 678 suspected gang members and associates from 133 gangs.

Charlotte is one of eight cities in the United States with an ICE Homeland Security Investigations Operation Community Shield Task Force, in which local special agents partner with federal, state, local and foreign anti-gang efforts.

Of the 678 gang members or associates arrested: they hailed from 133 different gangs; 447 were charged with criminal offenses; 231 were administrative arrests; 322 had violent criminal histories; and 421 were foreign nationals

Vasquez and Guzman were investigated following a traffic stop on North Church Street on Jan. 8, 2010. The Times-News published a story about the traffic stop this past January after receiving video taken of the stop and questions about the force sheriff's detectives used to restrain the two men.

Both men are from Mexico, speak limited English and didn't produce identification when asked for it by deputies. They've been held in the jail under Federal Immigration and Customs Enforcement detainers.

Man Charged With Eating Marijuana

<http://www.wtsbradio.com/pages/localnews.html>

Dunn Police charged a Benson man with resisting arrest after he allegedly ate a bag of marijuana and tried to wash it down with a can of beer.

Officer J.W. Dickinson responded to a drug complaint at a residence on West Harnett Street, Dunn, and saw a vehicle parked in front of the building. When he approached the vehicle, Officer Dickinson reported seeing the man who was sitting in the driver's seat "putting a green leafy substance in his mouth."

Believing the substance was marijuana, Officer Dickinson told the man to spit it out. When Officer Dickinson went to open the door of the vehicle, the man reportedly picked up a can of Budweiser and tried to wash down the marijuana with beer.

The man then reportedly tried to jump into the passenger seat, but Officer Dickinson pulled him from the vehicle and was able to retrieve some of the marijuana. He charged Jose Gerardo Soriano, 21, of South Lee Street, Benson, with possession of marijuana and resist, delay and obstruct. Mr. Soriano was held at the Harnett County Jail under a $750 bond.

Long sentences handed down to MS-13 gang members

<http://www.charlotteobserver.com/2011/03/05/2112279/sentences-handed-down-to-ms-13.html>

7 receive lengthy jail time on charges from racketeering to murder in Charlotte area.

Seven gang members received lengthy prison sentences this week on charges ranging from racketeering to murder.

Members and leaders of La Mara Salvatrucha, or MS-13, were sentenced Thursday and Friday. They were convicted or pled guilty last year to crimes associated with the gang's operation out of the Charlotte area.

All but one, who pled guilty, was convicted during a January 2010 trial of conspiring to engage in a racketeering enterprise in North Carolina, El Salvador and elsewhere from 2003 to 2009.

"We will continue to target the leaders and most violent members of street gangs like MS-13," Assistant Attorney General Lanny Breuer said in a statement. "We refuse to let these violent groups terrorize our communities and, as these defendants have learned, we will seek stiff prison sentences for their crimes."

Evidence presented at the 2010 trial showed that the gang members were responsible for the murders of seven people in North Carolina and Los Angeles.

MS-13 member Alejandro Umana previously received the death penalty for five of those murders.

This week, Chief U.S. District Judge Robert Conrad Jr. sentenced the following defendants:

Elvin Pastor Fernandez Gradis, 34, of Charlotte was sentenced to life in prison. He was convicted in connection with the 2008 shooting death of Ulisses Mayo-De La Torre in Charlotte. Evidence at trial showed that Fernandez-Gradis killed the 17-year-old because his cousin was wearing a shirt that was the color worn by a rival gang.

Santos Anibal Caballero Fernandez, 26, of Charlotte was convicted for being an accessory to murder in connection with Mayo-De La Torre's death. He received 150 months in prison.

Julio Cesar Rosales Lopez, a 24-year-old leader of the gang from Guilford County, was sentenced to more than 26 years in prison. MS-13 leaders in El Salvador sent him to run "The Program" in the Charlotte and Greensboro areas, according to prosecutors. He was convicted of being an accessory to a 2007 double homicide in a restaurant in Greensboro, as well as robbing someone he suspecting of dealing drugs in a Charlotte nightclub controlled by MS-13.

Juan Gilberto Villalobos, 44, of Charlotte was a main drug supplier and gun-keeper for the gang. He also "controlled" two Charlotte nightclubs for the gang, prosecutors say. He was sentenced to 17 years in prison after being convicted for various gun and drug charges, as well as conspiracy to commit extortion.

Johnny Elias Gonzalez, 22, of Charlotte was sentenced to 30 years in prison. In addition to his conspiracy conviction under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO) Act, Gonzalez was convicted in connection with the robbery-murder of Yonni Alexander Morales Maradiaga, who was killed during the robbery in east Charlotte in 2005.

Carlos Roberto Figueroa-Pineda, 28, of Charlotte was sentenced to 35 years in prison for charges including RICO conspiracy, as well as gun and drug charges. He was also convicted for attempting to kill someone by running over the person with a car.

Carlos Ferufino-Bonilla, 31, of Charlotte pled guilty in 2009 to RICO conspiracy involving multiple armed robberies, extortion and possession of a firearm by illegal alien. He received 78 months in prison.

KERNERSVILLE - Three young men plead guilty to charges connected to a fatal shooting outside the Sagebrush Steakhouse in Kernersville in 2008.

Matthew Lee Cherry and Jose Luis Colunga, both 20, entered guilty pleas in Forsyth Superior Court to charges stemming from the death of Brian Keith Atkins on Aug. 24, 2008.

Colunga pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and accessory after the fact to discharging a firearm into an occupied vehicle. Cherry pleaded guilty to accessory after the fact to first-degree murder and accessory after the fact to discharging a firearm into an occupied vehicle.

Judge Edgar Gregory of Forsyth Superior Court sentenced Cherry to at least 9 to nearly 12 years in prison and Colunga to at least 9 1/2 years to about 12 years in prison.

In December, Christian Nunez Pascasio, 20, who prosecutors say was the shooter, was found guilty of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole.

NORTH CAROLINA MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO FIREARMS TRAFFICKING

RALEIGH, NC - Ramadan Rama, 40, a resident of Fayetteville, N.C., pled guilty in federal court Monday to firearms trafficking charges, including failure to notify a common carrier of a firearm and exporting defense articles without a license, following an investigation by U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) Homeland Security Investigations (HSI) and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF).

A federal grand jury returned a criminal indictment on Dec. 14, 2010, which stated that Rama arrived in Pristina, Kosovo, on March 16, 2010, from Raleigh Durham Airport, and upon search of his checked luggage, officials found two disassembled semi-automatic pistols that had been wrapped in aluminum foil in an attempt to avoid detection.

The criminal complaint further alleged that on Sept. 22, 2010, Rama departed Raleigh Durham Airport en route to Pristina, Kosovo. During a layover in Vienna where Austrian Customs authorities performed a baggage check, the authorities located a disassembled Walther P22 .22 caliber semi-automatic pistol concealed in the lining of a leather bag packed in his checked luggage.

Parents Face Charges After Gun Found At School

Suspect Detained For Being In Country Illegally

ASHEBORO, N.C. -- The parents of a North Asheboro Middle School student accused earlier this week of bringing a gun to school have also been charged with a gun crime.

Martin Carbajal and Virginia Lopez, both of Asheboro, are facing charges of failing to secure a handgun. Asheboro police said a .380-caliber handgun was found in the student's locker.

Lopez was released after posting a $2,500 bail. Carbajal, a convicted felon, also posted a $2,500 bail, but was being detained for being in the country illegally, police said.

Police said Immigrations and Customs Enforcement agents were taking him into their custody.

Charlotte Man charged in weekend death is in country Illegally

<http://www.charlotteobserver.com/2011/03/15/2142309/man-charged-in-death-is-in-country.html>

A driver charged with hitting and killing a man over the weekend appears to be in the country illegally in addition to not having a driver's license, according to the Mecklenburg Sheriff's Office.

Investigators say Delvin Joel Marin-Contreras hit and killed swim team volunteer Bill Sweezer Saturday on the Interstate 277 loop near Carson Boulevard.

Sweezer and wife, Bobette, were driving their two sons, Brandon, 14, and David, 13, to the Southeastern Age Groups Champs meet about 7:20 a.m. Saturday when Sweezer's car crashed into the back of a Charlotte-Mecklenburg police cruiser on Interstate 277 near Carson Boulevard.

The officer driving that car had stopped to help a car stranded in the breakdown lane. Sweezer got out of his car and was talking to two officers, when a Toyota 4Runner slammed into his car. The 4Runner, driven by Marin-Contreras, struck and killed Sweezer. The officers were also injured.

The Mecklenburg County Sheriff's Office says after the crash and Marin-Contreras' arrest, they asked him where he was from. He told them Honduras.

The Sheriff's Office participates in the federal 287(g) program, which begins deportation proceedings on people in the country illegally. Marin-Contreras had been cited for no operators' license twice before, but because he had never been arrested and taken to the Mecklenburg jail; the Sheriff's Office had never checked his immigration status.

This weekend, deputies checked Marin-Contreras' name and found no paper trail showing he is in the country legally. Court records show Marin-Contreras has prior citations for driving without a license. But in those instances jail officials say Marin-Contreras wasn't arrested. He paid the ticket and the sheriff's office didn't check his immigration status.

Now, the misdemeanor death by vehicle and driving without a license charges stemming from the crash take priority over his immigration status.

He could be deported, but that would be after any potential sentence if he is convicted.

Traffic stop leads to cash seizure

<http://www.thetimesnews.com/news/seizure-42138-sheriff-alamance.html>

A traffic stop made by an Alamance County Sheriff's deputy Monday led authorities to a large sum of cash hidden in a laundry basket in an SUV.

Sheriff's deputy J. Hall, who is an officer in the department's K-9 unit, was traveling on Interstate 40/85 at about 5:30 p.m. Monday when he noticed the driver of a Toyota SUV making multiple lane changes, according to a sheriff's department news release.

The driver, later identified as Vicenta Medina Zuniga, 32, of Buckhorn Road, Orange County, is accused of crossing traffic multiple times and almost causing an accident.

"She almost flipped a car on the interstate," said Randy Jones, sheriff's department spokesman.

Hall made a traffic stop as Zuniga exited the interstate. When Hall approached the car with the police dog he had with him, which is used in drug searches, the dog allegedly alerted Hall to a narcotics odor on the driver's side door, the release states.

The vehicle was searched. Authorities didn't find any drugs, but $390,740 was found concealed in a laundry basket. Zuniga and the passenger in the SUV, Alberto Rosas, 33, were asked about the money.

"They denied knowledge of the money," Jones said.

Hall wrote a citation charging Zuniga with improper lane change, and she and Rosas were released. The money was seized and forfeited through the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration.

ELLERBE- Charges have been filed in Richmond County against the man accused of fleeing with two of his sons to Illinois against a court order.

Genaro Pineda-Munoz, 42, of Illinois, is charged with two felony counts of child abduction and one misdemeanor count of violating a domestic violence order. He is awaiting extradition to North Carolina.

Investigators said the mother of the two children, Fernanda Gonzalez of Ellerbe, traveled to the Chicago-area to retrieve the children Tuesday, and was expected to return with them.

Richmond County Department of Social Services Director Tammy Schrenker said this type of incident is uncommon, despite increased instances of shared parenting among two households.

“We do have some custody disputes where one parent will try to keep the children from the other parent, but kidnapping has never been a huge problem,” she said Tuesday morning.

Pineda-Munoz was taken into custody in Illinois March 9, when he was pulled over driving a car with the younger of the two children in the passenger area unrestrained.

Gonzalez filed a report about the missing children with the Richmond County Sheriff’s Office in February 2010, saying the father picked them up on a Friday evening, and was court ordered to return them at 4 p.m. the following Sunday, but didn’t show.

Suspected Illegal Arrested After High Speed Chase

<http://abclocal.go.com/wtvd/story?section=news/local&id=8028437>

WAKE COUNTY (WTVD) -- Tuesday's police chase through Wake County is not the first time an Apex man has lead police on a pursuit.

The chase began just after 6 p.m. when a deputy observed a blue Toyota Corolla being driven in an erratic manner near the intersection of Brentwood Road and Capital Boulevard.

The deputy attempted to pull over the vehicle, but the driver failed to stop. The pursuit ended with a crash on the eastbound I-540 exit ramp off of I-40.

Authorities arrested Savvas Avramidis of Apex at the scene.

The 22-year-old went before the magistrate Tuesday night. When the judge asked him why he was fleeing from police, he reportedly answered, he was just being stupid.

On Wednesday, he made his first court appearance for multiple charges, including felony fleeing and eluding arrest. It comes on top of another fleeing/eluding arrest charge from March 5 in Apex, along with a pending DWI charge from January.

Avramidis is scheduled to return to court on April 13 on most recent charges.

Lt. Keith Powell said Santiago was extremely intoxicated at the time of the incident in the residential neighborhood.

<http://www.wtsbradio.com/pages/localnews.html>

SELMA- An accused drunk driver stopped by Selma Police a short distance from his home Saturday night was allegedly operating his vehicle under the influence more than three times higher than the legal limit of .08. Officers stopped his car after he nearly struck another vehicle on East Lizzie Street, according to reports. Salazar allegedly told officers, "My keys in my hand. I go home. I just go home. Statewide cocaine deal busted in La Grange

<http://www.kinston.com/articles/grange-72639-cocaine-deal.html>

LA GRANGE — Three Lenoir County men and a man from Texas are in custody after federal and state authorities infiltrated what they said was an ongoing gun-and-crack-cocaine trafficking operation run by the group throughout Eastern North Carolina.

A joint drug investigation by eight law enforcement agencies culminated this week when investigators developed information that kilos of cocaine would be making its way from Roberson County to La Grange on Tuesday, said Capt. Jim Oldenburg, head of the Lenoir County Sheriff's Office's Detective Division.

Deputies, policeman, troopers and special agents intercepted the drug deal at its beginning in Roberson County and again at its destination in the La Grange Food Lion's parking lot. The drug bust resulted in the seizure of 2,363 grams of powder cocaine with a street value of $250,000 as well as three firearms, including a shotgun, .45-caliber pistol and a 357 revolver, Oldenburg said.

Officers arrested 31-year-old Erick Paul Lopez-Camarena and 42-year-old Jose Luis Pina, both of Deep Run, and Rolando Munoz Sanchez, 36, of Ennis, Texas, when the deal first began in Roberson County. The three were each placed in the Roberson County Jail for felony charges of trafficking cocaine and conspiracy to traffic cocaine.

Investigators then met Erick James Speight, 31, at the La Grange Food Lion. A search continued at his La Grange residence.

Speight was placed in the Lenoir County Jail for felony charges of possession of cocaine, maintaining a dwelling for a controlled substance and conspiracy to traffic cocaine.

"We are extremely happy we were able to identify and arrest all the suspects due to the amount of cocaine transferred among them," Oldenburg said.

Members of the Greenville Police Department, Wilson Police Department, Person County Sheriff's Office, State Bureau of Investigation, N.C. Highway Patrol, Rocky Mount Police Department and the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration assisted in the investigation.
