Winston-Salem License Plate Agency Closed For Audit

<http://www2.journalnow.com/content/2009/sep/02/dmv-shuts-local-office/news/>

The N.C. Division of Motor Vehicles closed the license-plate agency in the West Salem Shopping Center yesterday after one of the agency's former employees was arrested on fraud charges.

Zoyla Bustos-Perez, 28, of 3001 Marmion St. was charged with misapplication of government property, obtaining state vehicle titles by false pretense, and accessing state government computers to defraud the state of North Carolina.

Busto-Perez was in the country illegally, said Barbara Gonzalez, the southern regional communication director for U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

Benjamin F. Joyce and Jarret Henry Joyce have run the office, which is on Peters Creek Parkway since 1993. They are under investigation by the immigration agency over whether they knowingly hired an illegal immigrant.

No charges have been filed against the owners, officials said.

The investigation into the agency started about nine months ago, said Margo Howell, a spokeswoman for the DMV.

License-plate agencies offer vehicle-registration services, title transactions, vehicle-license renewals, replacement license plates and duplicate registrations, according to DMV. There are about 120 license-plate agencies across the state. They are typically operated by contractors, such as the Joyces.

According to arrest warrants, the alleged offenses involving Bustos-Perez started on Nov. 11, 2000.

Man charged with sex crimes

DURHAM -- Benito Ocampo Velez, of 122 Morcroft Lane, on Sunday was in the county jail for numerous charges of both second-degree sexual exploitation of a minor and third-degree sexual exploitation of a minor.

Police believe the 36-year-old on various occasions between October 2008 and March 2009 knowingly looked at pornographic images of children who ranged in age from 15 to 5.

Velez's bond was set at $325,000

Man may be deported after mistrial

<http://www.heraldsun.com/>

DURHAM -- A man recently on trial on accusations of taking indecent liberties with a child is in the hands of immigration officials and possibly could be sent to his country of origin, according to Durham County Sheriff's Office Maj. Paul Martin.

Luis Eduardo Escobar's court proceedings ended in a mistrial after jurors were unable to reach a unanimous decision about his alleged sexual crimes against a girl.

Under state law, if Durham law-enforcement officials can't determine the country of origin for inmates, then immigration officials have to take custody of those inmates, Martin said. The inmates receive hearings to determine whether or not they're allowed to remain in the United States, he said.

Escobar was indicted on two counts of statutory sexual offense, two counts of sexual activity by a substitute parent and two counts of taking indecent liberties with a child. After the state's evidence was presented, the court dismissed the charges for statutory sexual offense and sexual activity by a substitute parent.

Man suffers serious injuries in Durham crash

Durham, N.C. — A 25-year-old man suffered serious head injuries Saturday evening after crashing into a digital highway sign on Interstate 40 near the Page Road exit and then hitting a vehicle in the far left lane.

Caesar Antonio Garcia Hernandez, whose address is unknown, was driving a 1995 Saturn when he crashed, police said. The same car was involved in a hit-and-run 30 minutes earlier near the intersection of Holloway Street and Miami Boulevard, according to Durham police.

The car is owned by Manuel de Jesus Guillen Cruz of Park Avenue in Durham, police said. Hernandez took the Page Road exit around 5 p.m. and then tried to merge back on the highway. He struck a highway sign and then crossed the eastbound lanes of I-40 and hit a Chevrolet Impala in the far left lane, police said.

The Impala, driven by Frank Lackey of Statesville, came to rest against the Jersey barriers in the median. The Saturn also came to rest on the shoulder near the Jersey barrier.

Emergency crews took Hernandez to Duke University Hospital for treatment of serious head injuries. He was listed in good condition Sunday. Lackey and three passengers in his vehicle were not injured, police said.

Hernandez was pronounced dead at the scene.

Elm City Middle School

According to the investigation report, Armando Dellavalle, 33, a Lear Court resident, was prevented from picking up his child at the end of the school day because he wasn't listed on the authorization card for the child.

The school's student resource officer, Deputy T. Atkinson told Dellavalle that he would not be able to take the child.

The report also indicated that as he was leaving the office, Dellavalle told Atkinson that she had "better call her boys," apparently referring to her fellow deputies.

Dellavalle left the office and was later spotted in the bus parking lot by a bus driver, who notified school officials, the report said.

Meanwhile, a citizen who was aware of the situation told Deputy B. Massey, who was working the crosswalk at New Hope Elementary, that Dellavalle had a gun in his possession and that he was going to attempt to pick up a child at Elm City Middle School.

That information was relayed to Atkinson and other deputies responded to assist with the situation.

Dellavalle was approached by officers and consented to a search of his vehicle. Deputies located a handgun.

He was then arrested and placed in the Wilson County Jail under a $1,000 bond. He was released about two hours later after posting bail.

Dellavalle's next court appearance is scheduled for Sept. 22 in Wilson County Superior Court.
